

Marjorie Main, who spent the Winter with her daughter Georgia and family in California is back at her apartment at the Diplomatic Center. She had rather a rough time after leaving California, though. She sailed from San Francisco aboard a British ship bound for Acapulco but a bug, evidently picked up in Japan, caused an epidemic of an insidious type of flu among the passengers. So, instead of visiting her friend, Irene Bennett (formerly of here) in Cuernavaca as planned, she spent her time under medication and treatment in Mexico City. But she's all well and whole again now.

Marjorie Main, who spent the Winter with her daughter Georgia and family in California is back at her apartment at the Diplomatic Center. She had rather a rough time after leaving California, though. She sailed from San Francisco aboard a British ship bound for Acapulco but a bug, evidently picked up in Japan, caused an epidemic of an insidious type of flu among the passengers. So, instead of visiting her friend, Irene Bennett (formerly of here) in Cuernavaca as planned, she spent her time under medication and treatment in Mexico City. But she's all well and whole again now.

* * *