Dear Don,

You may enjoy this page from a young letter.
Have right she is about communication. Nothing ever breaks down between Ernest and me except communication - and without that every thing was gone.

I told G. that I would stick with the switch board. There is only one I would like to go out with and my warning antennae are out there.

Think the best and most sincere compliments I ever had came a few weeks ago from the old lady of a friend - I was at a dinner party - much dressed up. I went to the kitchen to speak to Annie whom I have known for many years. She looked me up and down as only a colored person can - and said -

"Lawd, Miss Marie - And the strange thing is that no matter how many 'mens' want me - I still have might mares of rejection - because I can't win in this here world."

So much for communication -
Love
